Less Pix; More Words

I am a new subscriber to CATS, and how I enjoy it! My only wish is that there might be more reading, and not quite as many pictures. While I'm devoted to cats in any form, mine are the domestic variety, and not pedigree cats. Hence I find the reading matter to be of greater interest than the pictures.

Wants More Information

May I put in a plea that when listing the sectional winnings you add the sire and dam as you did last year? To breeders interested in bloodlines, this information and the picture are the major points of interest.

THE BEGGAR CAT

Poor little beggar cat, hollow-eyed and gaunt,
Creeping down the alley-way like a ghost of want,
Kicked and beat by thoughtless boys, bent on cruel play,
What a sorry life you lead, whether night or day!

Hunting after crust and crumbs, gnawing meatless bones,
Trembling at a human step, fearing bricks and stones,
Shrinking at an outstretched hand, knowing only blows,
Wretched little beggar cat, born to suffer woes.

Stealing to an open door, craving food and meat,
Frightened off with angry cries, and broomed into the street,
Tortured, teased and chased by dog, through the lonely night,
Homeless little beggar cat, sorry is your plight.

Sleeping anywhere you can, in the rain or snow,
Walking in the cold, gray dawn, wondering where to go,
Dying in the street at last, starved to death at that,
Picked up by the scavenger;—poor tramp cat!

FRISKY

In the Washington Heights section of New York City recently, Frisky, a short haired domestic cat disappeared. It was gone for two days.

Mrs. Otilla Cheronos and her two daughters, Anna 13 and Norma 9, literally drove the neighborhood daffy with their constant calling of "Frisky! Here, Frisky!" Soon neighbors joined in the hunt, not only to help find the cat but to put a stop to the monotonous calling.

On the morning of the third day, Mrs. Cheronos dressed early and went to the roof of the apartment building where she dwelled, with the idea of looking over the city and to work out a new route of search for Frisky. She decided to try out her "Here Frisky! Here Frisky!" a few times before departing on her final search. Then, in answer to her calls, she heard a faint meowing. It came from a gas stove ventilator chimney in the depths of which, many feet down, Mrs. Cheronos saw two gleaming eyes. Frisky was wedged in the ventilator.

Mrs. Cheronos telephone the police who sent an emergency squad. It was decided by the sergeant of the squad that Frisky was lodged on the sixth floor of the apartment, about level with the apartment of one Patrick Carbin.

While Mr. Carbin ate his breakfast, the police broke a hole through the wall of his kitchen. They looped a rope about Frisky, which was perched on a piece of wood in the vent, and pulled her out.

The call of "Here Frisky! Here Frisky!" has been eliminated from the usually quiet Washington Heights neighborhood.

VOLTS

John Smith of Sussex, England, has seven children. We call him John Smith because that is not his name, and because he does not live in Sussex.

John Smith was a very clever man. He spent a great amount of his time concocting various gadgets to eliminate a few minutes time or a few extra steps. His hobby was electricity which he tied up with these novelties. He was a wizard.

John Smith also hated cats. He had no apparent reason for detesting them. Just one of those things. No explanation for it.

Because of his incessant hatred for things feline, he designed an electric trap "to scare off" prowling cats. It took him but a few minutes to design it. John was a fast worker. Soon the snare was rigged up. Should a prowling cat ever come near his house, it would never return for a second visit.

John Smith regularly plugged the wires in the light socket each night before retiring. In the morning he arose early and disconnected the plug in order to keep his children from harm as they stayed in the backyard.

For two weeks John Smith connected the trap, but a prowling cat failed to visit his backyard. But he knew one would eventually tangle in the charged wires. They were very cleverly arranged.

Then one morning he received an urgent telephone call at his office from his neighbor, Mr. Jones (which isn't his name).

"There has been an accident, John," came over the wire. "Your wife ———."

John Smith remembered that he had left hurriedly that morning and failed to remove the plug!

The children are being cared for by Mrs. M. Forsythe (which is not her name) whose sister subscribes to this magazine.

WEEK

Plans for National Cat Week, to be staged November 7 through November 13 are progressing nicely. Elsewhere in this issue, you will see the official photograph which will be the subject of the seals. These lovable kittens, we hope will be sending out the message of National Cat Week each time you write a letter. When you pay your electric light bill, place a NCW stamp on it. When you write Aunt Tessie in Moline seal your envelope with the kittens. By doing so, you will be aiding in the effort of building up interest in cats.

All the funds that are received from the sale of National Cat Week seals are used for the purchase of literature and posters.

NEW KITTEN IN YOUR HOME

By Helen G. Fairchild

This is the time of year when kittens are getting large enough to leave home and mother and go to their new abodes. Whether it be a cute alley kitten or a highly bred show type the reactions to new places are the same. First is the wide-eyed fear of the new and strange, then the cautious, tip-toeing around the house to investigate everything from cellar to attic and finally the settling down to take over the complete running of the household—such as deciding upon whose bed to sleep, which "best" chair to reserve for himself and the exact time his meals must be served. When this third and last phase has been reached, the new mistress is on her own against the kitten's slave driving, but the first and second phases do warrant special consideration.

Of course, all kittens sense immediately if a person is a real cat lover and so the cat fanatic of the household should be the first to welcome and pet and cuddle the new kitten. Don't, however, smother him with love at first, but do let him know he is truly welcome. If the kitten has been expressed to his new home in a carrier, this is usually regarded by the kitten as the only connecting link to his past happiness and when he tires of petting let him hide in the carrier. Show the new kitten his sand box and water dish and leave him alone to relax and investigate a small room such as a service porch or bath room. Do not let the children bring all the neighbor kids right over to see the new pet, and be especially careful not to introduce him to the old, crochety family cat or the dog right away. Don't worry if the kit does not eat for a day or two. Nobody feels like eating when he is suffering from homesickness. When the kitten does show an interest in food, as he will soon, feed him the same diet he has been used to in his former home. If you feel that the diet should be changed, begin by feeding small portions of the new food along with his regular prescribed meal. Soon your preferred diet can take the place of, or be interchanged with the old. Make sure, if possible, if the kitten has been used to milk. If not, it is a mistake to expect him to handle it. In some cases milk causes upset bowels and even diarrhea.

Now that we have your new kitten settled and eating, the next phase is the real investigating procedure. That kitten has to know every inch of the house and each separate smell that means so much to him. This sometimes gets him into a lot of trouble and causes his new owner anxious moments. When the kit is first turned loose in the house it is well to watch him carefully, for there are several things that he is quite likely to do. One of the most common is for an uninitiated kitten to mistake a stove for a table and hop onto it. If the stove is hot he will do it only once, but burns to his little toe pads are very painful and easily become infected. He will, no doubt, crawl under the refrigerator and scare the daylights out of you for fear he will get his tail caught in the works. So far, we have never had a kitten hurt in this way, but it is a hazard. Be sure that there are no splintery chicken bones left around that he can chew; these and fish bones can be deadly if they have a chance to puncture the intestine. Once, years ago, a new kitten at our house jumped upon the sink and licked the drain where some powdered soap had remained and he was a very sick kitty, indeed. I'm not writing this to endeavor to frighten a potential kitten owner, but am trying to point out that with a little forethought on your part a kitten can be spared a lot of pain or sickness.

In the first paragraph I mentioned that a kitten will investigate everything from cellar to attic and he will too! If you have no cellar he will get under the house

A Short History of THE BOSTON CAT CLUB

By Virginia Cobb

In the Winter of 1904, Mrs. Helen Brayton had an idea. It continued to grow as the wintry weeks dissolved into Spring, and then she acted. She contacted five of her friends who were cat-minded like herself and on a specified date convened at the Animal Rescue League Headquarters in Boston. As a result the Boston Cat Club was founded, to become one of the outstanding feline groups today.

With Mrs. Brayton taking the lead in the activity, which reflects in the very strong and stable foundation of the Club today, a Cat Show was planned and successfully presented for the first time in 1905 at Mechanics Hall, in conjunction with the Poultry Show. The event was spectacular in that it attracted 185 cats and extended over a period of five days. The show was staged under the rules of the American Cat Association. It was not until 1911 that the schedule was reduced to three days.

In 1909, the Boston show attracted many unusual entries, and, according to the catalog, one Siamese, two Abyssinians, five Manx, six Australians and several Russian cats competed in the event. The Australian and Russian entries were owned by Miss Alfrieda Richards of New Bedford, Mass., and presumably caused quite a sensation.

By 1914 the Boston Cat Show was attracting exhibitors with their cats from all sections of the United States. The catalog that year showed a record field of 214 entries, with no less than 19 pages devoted to the listing of "specials," from a box of chocolates to $2.50 in gold!

It was with the 1919 show that Boston decided to stage its first independent exhibition. The fashionable Copley Plaza Hotel was engaged and the show staged for the T.B. Children of Devastated France. Funds in the amount of $900 were presented to this cause. The following year and until 1934, the shows were held under C.F.F. rules.

Beginning with the exhibition in 1922, most of the Boston Cat Club shows have been staged at Horticultural Hall. Mrs. Gertrude Taylor of Detroit was the Judge of the 1922 event, and the records show that the silver classes carried off the majority of "bests." Better than $950 was cleared to form an attractive treasury for later activity. The sales table that year featured 170 pots of growing oats and 200 catnip mice, presented by the club members. After the show, Mrs. Taylor remarked that "in all her years of judging, she had never officiated at such a well conducted show."

It was following the 1922 show that Mrs. Helen Brayton, the Club Delegate to the Annual CFF meeting, made the motion that a Championship Class be allowed. This was apparently approved because the following year, such a class appeared in the catalog, although only two cats were entered.

The Boston Cat Club was now growing in membership and the records of 1923 reveal that there were 101 members and a treasury fund of $1,000. Special sales were held prior to the scheduled shows to aid in the expenses of the exhibitions. These informal events realized about $100.

In 1925 Boston Cat Club reached new heights. The January show that year revealed that the sale of tickets by members totaled $473; a kitten raffle earned $240; and the sales table returned $125. During all these years, bundle parties, "snipping" parties, birthday parties and other events were staged to swell the treasury. At the

by Billie Bancroft

From out San Diego way there comes a story of Rickey, Rickey-Tickey-Tava to be exact. He is the seventh son of a seventh daughter. Said daughter being Queen Tava of Manchester, England, who has papers to prove she is royalty. Now this Rickey is owned by a lady pharmacist. She has raised him from a small kitten. His diet was supplemented with vitamin tablets along with heaping helpings of milk, liver and kidney. As a wee-small "meuer" she gave him liver oil concentrate that is the kind usually used to spur young babies along—and did Rickey like this—he literally lapped it up—and at this writing he is a husky, healthy, formidable cat, weighing eighteen pounds on the bathroom scales.

There came one day to the store, a drug salesman, who took a liking to Rickey. This salesman wrote his company of a good customer named R. R. T. Lee. Later Rickey received a complimentary bottle of vitamins from the drug people. After Rickey sampled the vitamins and found them to his liking, Mrs. Lee covered a sheet of stationery with line after line of "purr—purr—pu-r-r—," and mailed it to the drug people, who were, to say the least, puzzled. The company immediately contacted their salesman and demanded to know "what the heck was going on out there in San Diego."

Mrs. Lee says that Rickey has the run of the Drug Store and has as many friends as they have customers. She keeps an open bottle of yeast tablets where he can help himself which he does regularly. Only once, Mrs. Lee recalls, he imbibed too freely from an open pill box and got himself temporarily paralyzed. He soon recovered. You can't keep the seventh son of a seventh daughter down. Long may he reign—Rickey-Tickey-Tava!

I have a picture of Gum-drop and his new owner—and we are too sorry for words—but we very seldom use pictures in this column. Gum-drop is a yellow and white queen, common alley variety—but oh so clever, according to her new owner, Bill Nygaard, 3407 Grand Avenue, Vancouver, Washington. You see Gum-drop was sealed in a railroad box car for nine days without food or water. She was found by workmen at the Larger Brewing plant, a bit worse for her stream-lined dieting but not in too bad a condition. According to Bill—she shore is a honey.

Gympson Weed lived down in Frogville, Choctaw County, Oklahoma, and belongs to Ethel May Reinhold. Gympson is not the common garden weed variety of a cat, he is blue Persian of the imported Allington fame. Ethel May writes me he has enough rosettes and blue ribbons to equip a Fourth of July parade. Gympson very much wants to meet Margaret Cooper Gay, author of that How to Live with a Cat book. He will listen for hours if Ethel May will talk to him about "Ma," "Pickles" and "Charley" the three characters in Miss Gay's book. Ethel May's father claims it is the personal attention that holds him but his owner knows differently, she is positive he is literary.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Rittenhouse, 1827 Wadsworth Avenue, Denver, Colorado, tell me about "Tien Wyo-Ming" a twelve pound Siamese, who tolerates living with their four children. He is of the sweetest disposition ever and seldom allows the children to disturb him in any way but one day, not too long ago, he was caught napping, before he could say "catnip mouse" he found himself swaddled in doll clothes and plunked into a buggy—he submitted gracefully—but what happened to him, says Tien (fur short), shouldn't happen to a dog. (Thank you for the picture of Tien in the doll carriage but we haven't space to use it.—I like Tien's autograph, he must wear large shoes).

PERTINENT FACTS CONCERNING SECTIONAL AND A-A RANKING

All sectional winners qualify for the title of All-American, provided competition is furnished by AT LEAST THREE sections (i.e., the Canadian section's Russian Blue is not eligible for All-American consideration because it has been provided with no competition from any other two sections).

The rankings represent neither the personal selection of CATS nor any one individual. Every effort is made to present a 100% unbiased and correct ranking, based only on the decisions of judges of all exhibitions in the United States and Canada, with a mathematical system applied to determine ultimate winners thru a point scale.

The rankings are neither "fixed" nor purchased. The sectional and All-American ribbons and rosettes as well as the Certificates of Award are presented to the owners of the winning cats ABSOLUTELY FREE. No one can buy a sectional ranking, directly or indirectly. The rankings are in no way politically allied to any one association or group.

THE 1948 ALL-WESTERN

Forty-two show cats representing the standouts of the 1947-48 exhibition season in California have earned the title of 1948 All-Western in their respective breed, color and sex. With the exception of one blueblood, listed as of Ohio, the entire lineup hails from California.

Through a technicality of being sold after the season, the red tabby peke female, Viking Cinderella, exhibited and originally owned by Mrs. George Perry of Fullerton, Calif., is shown as the property of Mrs. Ella Conroy of Richmond, Ohio.

Twenty-eight owners, including a lessee, are represented as the owners of the 1948 All-Western thoroughbreds, with Mrs. Mildred Alexander of Sherman Oaks topping the list with five entries.

Noticeably absent from this year's rankings is Ch. Wimauma Masterpiece of Chalsu, blue male who last year won the title of All-American Cat of the Year. Taking over from the 1947 standout is Ch. Blue Bay ZaZa, owned by Miss Martha G. Jones of Santa Monica.

Boston Cat Club

meetings which were well attended, a mite box or "the dark horse" was on "display" for the members' pennies, nickles and dimes. It is still in use today.

The 1926 show was a "double" and was staged under the rulings of the C.F.F. and the A.C.A. The Club resigned its membership with the former group in 1926 and remained unaffiliated for eight years.

A Silver Specialty show was held in conjunction with the 1931 exhibition and resulted in an entry of 57 cats. The founder of the Club, now Mrs. Helen Brayton Tate, was the judge and Miss Lillian M. Goodwin, present C.F.A. secretary, won the "Best" award with her cat, Ch. Dreamland Raschid. The following year, the show staged a Siamese Specialty and in this event, Best Cat went to Newton's Salome, owned by Mrs. Hugh Dailey.

In 1934 The Boston Cat Club affiliated with the Cat Fanciers Association.

The club featured an unusual attraction in 1937, the first event of its kind in the United States. This was a Championship Mouse Show, resulting in 50 exhibits, each benched in its own tiny cage.

Ever since 1928, the Club employed Mr. Rupert Kobza as the Secretary for the Annual Shows, however, in 1940 the members voted to handle this difficult position themselves. The profits from the 1940 event were donated to the British War Relief. This amounted to $700. During the years of the War, all profits were turned over to War Relief—in 1941, the Red Cross; and in 1942, the Army and Navy Emergency Relief.

The Boston Stage Door Canteen received a check for $500 after the 1944 show. In 1945, $200 was presented to the March of Dimes; $100 to the Stage Door Canteen, and other funds to the Angell Memorial Hospital, and the Animal Rescue League. In addition a wheel chair and walker were sent to the Soldiers Home at Chelsea, Mass.

Through all the years, regular meetings have been held in hotels, tea rooms and the homes of members. Many fine programs have been presented, with members or outside speakers engaged. Cats have been exhibited at meetings and judged; articles on the feeding and care of cats and kittens read, discussions on catteries, preparing cats for shows, other subjects.

During the last few years a Year Book has been issued. This is distributed to members in January and contains the places of meetings and the programs for the entire year.

Boston has started many "firsts," including the use of oil cloth on the floors of the judging cages in order that the cages be better cleaned between classes. The Club was first to make use of the "Breeders' Directory" in the show catalog, and first to have a Cat Show "In Memoriam" to a cat. This was the 1943 Siamese Specialty event and the cat was Dbl. Ch. DjerKits Chinkaling of Newton. The show was made possible financially, by donations from Chinky's friends. the sum of $125 being raised. Mrs. Pauline Kelsey was the Judge and donated her services.

It is believed that Boston is the only club that exhibits its Cups and Trophies during its annual show.

The latest action by the Club was the presenting of a tiger to the Franklin Park Zoo in Boston, from funds obtained at the 1947 event.

There have been many famous cats entered in Boston shows, including "Hindy" the Boston Post Cat; "Eleanor Bolling" who flew to the South Pole with Admiral Byrd on his first expedition; "Frisky" the Hairless cat; "Tommy Atkins" the cat who was nailed in with a crated shell for Harvard University (by mistake of course). In reference to "Tommy Atkins," this cat remained in the crate for three weeks and was practically dead when the huge box was opened. "Cougat," an ocelot, brought to the United States by a returning G. I., was exhibited at the 1946 show.

Members of the club credit much of the success of the annual show to the generous help provided by the Boston newspapers, which completely "cover" the show pictorially weeks in advance and throughout the scheduled event.

Oldest members of Boston Cat Club in terms of years as associated with the club are Mrs. Annie Greely, Mrs. Marguerite Saxby-Mabie, Mrs. Mabel A. Lafayette, Mrs. Emma Raymond, Mrs. C. M. Crossley, Mrs. J. Barnard Buzzell, Miss Mary Cass, Miss Irma Rich, Mrs. Virginia Cobb, and Miss Beatrice Pray.

Since 1918, Charity has realized nearly $7,500 from the Boston Cat Show, a truly remarkable presentation and one of which every member should feel justly proud.

San Diego Club

"Care and Raising of Siamese Cats" was the topic selected by Mrs. J. F. Goforth at a recent meeting of the San Diego, California, Cat Fanciers. After the talk, the speaker answered questions from the audience. At a previous meeting, Mrs. James R. Mood discussed "Recording of Registered Cats." She was recorder of the Cat Fanciers Association for many years.

Corrections

SKIN ITCH: Don't be too quick to blame fleas, mange, diet, if pets itch—scratch continually. 2 to 1 it's "FUNGITCH," fungus infection discovered by noted veterinarian, Dr A. C. Merrick. Much like athlete's foot, it itches painfully—soon develops dandruff-like scales or mouldy-smelling brownish-edged sores around tail, on paws, back or underbody. Dr. Merrick's SULFODENE applied externally stops the itching in minutes—clears up scales and sores in a few days. Generous treatment $1.00 in stores or order direct—address below

EAR CANKER: If pet repeatedly rubs ear on floor, etc., shakes head or holds it in a stiff, unnatural way, examine ears carefully. If hot—sensitive—musty-smelling, you know it's ear canker (otitis). Apply Dr. Merrick's EAR CANKER Creme at once. Simply squeeze Creme from handy metal tube into the affected ear. Creme contains wonder-drug Tyrothricin. Works swiftly to relieve pain, remove causes and promote healing of ear canker. Don't let your pet suffer another day. Only $1.00 per tube at stores or order direct from BROOKFIELD LABORATORIES, Dept.G-368 BROOKFIELD, ILL.

The Springfield Cat Fancier Club (Mass.) is planning to stage its annual show in September, according to an announcement by Winifred Stackhouse, secretary. Dates are to be announced in the near future. Manager of the event which was staged in conjunction with the Eastern States Exhibition, will be Mrs. Bertha Costello, vice president of the Cat Fanciers Federation.

AMERICAN CAT ASSOCIATION HAS NEW BY-LAWS AND STUD BLANKS

A new set of By-Laws together with completely revised registration rules were scheduled to become effective in the American Cat Association on June 1, 1948. With the registration rules revised, an entirely new application blank is being released. This is larger than the previous one and carries much additional information, including full stud book and ancestry record.

This information was released by Mrs. Stanley Gibson, secretary-treasurer of the American Cat Association following the Board meeting in April.

It was also announced that the annual meeting, held in Chicago on March 25 resulted in twenty clubs with representation. The regular business meeting was followed by a dinner at the Cordon Club.

Five new clubs affiliated with the Association since its previous annual meeting, including two additional clubs voted to membership at the April conclave. For the year ending March 1, 1948, a total of 1438 cats were registered, it was announced.

Cat Works in Laboratory Retrieving Stray Mice

In the town of Avon, near Rochester, N. Y., lives a big black cat named "8-ball." He has a special job in a mousery there, where white mice are bred for use in medical research.

It is the duty of "8-ball" to corral mice that escape from the several thousand breeding cages. He gathers the errant ones into his mouth and returns them to J. Louis Cleaver, in charge of the laboratory.

"8-ball's" reward for bringing every mouse back alive is a dish of mashed crackers and cream.

Royal Canadian Club Elects Male Officers

The Royal Canadian Cat Club for the first time in its existence, elected an all-male executive at its annual meeting. Mr. D. Deans-Henderson was elected president by acclamation with C. L. Braill, 1st vice president; R. Goodenough, second vice president; N. E. Whiteside, secretary, and O. Parish, treasurer. These with John Medland, Stevan Walsh and H. J. Wiggins compose the executive. ## CAT TAILS

Another story from California. This one is from Redlands. Ross Huffman, 125 E. Pioneer Avenue, has a Tortoiseshell that he is very proud to own, unfortunately this calico gal is cross eyed. She is named "Booby"—her convergent stabismus (translation: cross eyes) handicap her in hunting mice but she has no trouble in ambushing rabbits. She always drags her catch to the Huffman's back porch. This is quite a feat in itself since the rabbits are usually twice as large as "Booby" who has a decided penchant for Jack Rabbits a la mode, she says they really are the "cat's whiskers." Mr. Huffman states that she has to hunt something large because she can't see small animals.

In Barrington, New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Locke are enjoying an unusual experience. One of their neighbors was chopping down a large tree, as it fell, a mother squirrel was caught in the branches and slammed to her death. Upon investigation, a squirrel nest was found and it contained four very small babies, the little fellows soon became very hungry. The kind neighbor took the little orphans to the Lockes—knowing they had a lovely mother cat with one baby kitten. The mother cat—oddly enough was named "Harry"—quickly accepted the new babies and mothered them lovingly, the squirrels were two males and two females. They have been with "Harry" for two weeks now and are thriving very well indeed. Their eyes are still sealed and their long tails are furring out—and eat—why their appetites are enormous!

Down in Norfolk, Virginia, Mrs. Ester Wood, 909 Norwood Street, has an old mother biddy who has adopted three motherless kittens. The kittens' mother was killed by a dog and they cried long and piteously when their mother did not show up at feeding time—Mrs. Wood gave them milk—but being only two weeks old the small felines were not at all sure how to drink milk from a saucer. At this point an old mother hen stepped up and began to teach them the art of motherless eating—soon the kittens were lapping milk side by side with the hen and following her about the yard, rubbing their little bodies against the hen's legs. Mrs. Wood says the babies are rapidly taking on the mannerisms of their foster mother.

BRITISH POSTOFFICE CAT DELIVERED IN MAIL BAG

Recently the parcel section of the Station Sorting Office of Bristol, England, had the experience of receiving a live cat in a mail bag from Bridport. The animal arrived safely and seemed to take its experiences purely as a matter of course.

A letter was sent to the Bridport postal official advising him that "One Cat" had been received. The Bridport official replied that it was his office cat and please return it. It appeared that it was the cat's habit to jump into mail bags for a nap.

The Bristol post office employees returned the cat, packed in a basket, labeled "Danger—the Bridport Tiger."

Cats Arouse Sleeper; Thug Takes to Heels

Mrs. Emma Lemieux of Buffalo was awakened recently by the yowling of cats on her back fence. She opened the window to shoo them away. Then she went into the kitchen, but screamed when she was confronted by a housebreaker. He dived through another open window. All through the terrible event, her husband slept. Mrs. Lemieux has since purchased a cat. They are all welcome now!
